Three in West Superior Died Under Suspicious Circumstances.

West Superior, Wis., May 28.—Three more people who were associated with Dr. Hermann, who is wanted in Salt Lake for murder, died or disappeared under very suspicious circumstances.

Rev. Hermann was pastor of the Norweglan-Danish M. E. Church here in 1891-92. When he came here he had been married about a year to his second wife, a Miss Bertha Wagen of St. James, Minn, in January, 1892. Mrs. Hermann suddenly became violently insane, from what cause has never been discovered.

While preparations were being made to take her to an asylum she died. Traces of chloroform and ammonia were seen on her tips and it was said that the drugs were administered to quiet her. The explanation was accepted by the physicians but it was thought peculiar at the time and now it is regarded as very suspicious. Shortly after his wife's death, Hermann began living a notorious life with Miss Carrie Wagen, his wife's sister. This lasted for some time, but finally Miss Wagen amounteed her intention of going home. From that time to this she has never been seen or heard of.

and weading music was payed throughout the service.

Messrs, J. Campbell, J. H. Kean, Thomas Shelton and T. Reilly were ushers, and Miss Katherine Kaue maid of honor. Miss Kane wore a gown of evru gauze over coral silk trimmed with lace and coral ribbons. Her flowers were American Beauty roses. The bride's costume was of brown novelty cloth, with vest of Dresden silk and trimmings of gold passementerie. She carried Golden Gate roses.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Stewart left for a month's bridat lour. On their return they lasted for some time, but finally Miss Wagen announced her intention of going home.
From that time to this she has never been seen or heard of.
Hermann then married Miss Bertha Lommen, sister of Senator Lommen of Crookston, Mim. The couple moved to Salt Lake where she died very suddenly. Miss Lommen was Hermann's third wife. Of his first nothing is known here.

ARGUING FOR SINGLE TAX.

tends to increase faster than the means of subsistence, and hence powerty ensues, re-ceived a black eye last night at the meeting of the Single Tax Club in Typographical Temple.

Mr. Maurice Pechin was the principal speaker. In a low state of society, he said, the tendency was to increase in num-bers, but under a high state of civilization an equilibrium was established. He considered the competitive system as but a means of working out that condition when equality should exist.

The single tax he declared to be in the line of reform to establish justice, to open natural opportunities and the gradual development of the races into a higher state of society.

The same line of argument was continued at considerable length by Messrs. Peters, Berbage and Newbergh.

An enthusiastic accress was also made by Mr. George S. Krause, of Kensington, in relation to the single tax in general and its effect upon the farmers and laboring people.

Episcopalians About to Inaugurate an Important Movement. Cleveland, Ohio, May 28.—According to present plans a move of national importance in the Episcopal church will be started at in the Episcopal church will be started at the next meeting of the Cleveland Clericus, to be held at Akron next Monday. The Cleveland Clericus is composed of the Cleveland Episcopal clergy.

The Episcopal church has no young people's society that ranks with the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church and the Christian Endeavor Society of the other Protestant churches. The Epworth League is considered exclusive, but the Episcopalians could have affiliated with the Eudeavorers had they chosen to do so, One reason why they have not is that some of them think that the Endeavorers are so devoted to their society that they think more of it than they do or their churches.

The new Episcopalian Society, which is to be discussed by the local clergy will conform strictly to church lines. It will be, at all times, secondary to the Episcopal clurch. A young people's society of this kind, once established, it is held, will have a tremendous growth throughout the country.

AN ANGRY WIFE'S SHOT.

Wounded the Woman Who Stole Her Husband's Affections.

New Orleans, La., May 28.—Last Saturday the Headlight, a sensational weekly publication of this city, contained a "writeup" of John Locourt and Mrs. Ella Carlin. For some time past Mrs. Locourt has charged that Mrs. Carlin has been robbing her and her children of the support and affections of Locourt. She remonstrated on several occasions, but he paid no heed to her.

Mrs. Locourt then realized that she could accomplish her purpose by having her husband and Mrs. Carlin published in the weekly sensational papers. She called at the office of the Headlight and gave information which resulted in the publication.

Mrs. Carlin went to the Headlight office to ascertain who was responsible for the publication, and the editor told her Mrs. Locourt was. The latter was sent for and on her arrival at the office the women began to abuse each other, and finally came to blows, when Mrs. Locourt drew a pistol and shot Mrs. Carlin, it is thought fatally.

Maj. Butterworth's Questions of Prof. Frazier.

Letters Measured for the Edification of the Jury by the Experts-How the Use of a Stiff Pen on Paper May Be Detected-Much Time Consumed in a Crossfire.

The inciement weather decreased the attendance at the Holt will trial in Judge Bradley's court this morning until it was scarcely half as large as it has been at each preceding session. The cross examination of Prof. Percival Frazier of Philadelphia, the handwriting expert, was continued with the originary of court.

the handwriting expert, was continued with the opening of court.

A long debate and exchange of wit passed between Mal. Butterworth and the expert.
The former said he had a desire to get at the true in wardness of the witness 'testmony regarding' the composite signature of which he had spoken yesterday. Explanations and questions waxed loud and long, until it is doubtful if the jurors knew as much of the composite, average signature
as he did after the profissor finished has diret day's lecture.

"Why, some of the lines in those letters are a millimeter in breadth, are they not?"
asked Major Butterwith.

"Well, yes, they are. The writing is rather coarse."

"How do you reach accuracy in meas-

How do you reach accuracy in measuring from one letter to another?"

By taking averages, dropping frastions at one time and adding them at another." at one time and adding them at another."
Letters were measured for edification of the jury by the expert, with his ruler graduated in millimeters. The angles of the letters were also examined.

The witness repeated that one of the elements that went to convince him that the hand that wrote the will and the one that wrote the fglehart and Robert S. Holt letters, were not identical, was the presence of the back-banded, fore handed and vertical letters in greater abundance in the will than they wert in the cpistles.

PRESSED THE QUESTIONS.

"The nervousness of the writer, his position, the size of the paper and various other conditions influence the appearance of the writing, do they not?" asked Major Butterworth.

"Oh yes; they do."

"Are the fibers the same in the lower segment of the paper that they are in the upper?"

"I am unable to tell, sir, with this glass. It is only of about thrity-five diameters magnifying power, while it would take a magnifying power, while it would take a glass of 200 diameters to distinguish correctly. Under this glass the fibers appear the same."

"How do you deduce the belief that the writer used a stiff pen, as you stated yesterday?"

"From the thickness of the lines, the shade, and the prominence and visibility of the hair lines. Every feature, light and heavy, is recorded on the paper."

A long time was consumed in another comparison of letters before the jury, and this closed the cross-examination by Major Butlerworth.

The jurors took the will and examined the "y's" in it. The tabulated statements showing the expert's computations were offered in evidence. Belirect testimony was offered that carried the examination up to the noon recess.

CAUGHT BY THE PORTER.

Henry Hill, an Alleged Pullman Car Thief, in Custody.

A well-dressed man, about thirty-two years of age, supposed to be a professional Pullman car thief, was turned over to Po-liceman Newkirk at the Baltimore and Po-tomac depot about 7 o'clock this morning by a colored Pullman porter, who arrived on the New York train, which reached here about that time.

on the New York train, which reached here about that time.

The man was taken into custody by Newkirk, but before the patrol wagon arrived to convey him to No. 6 police station the prisoner quickly sent a messenger to engage Lawyer Camphell Carrington to derend him. This quick move on the part of the stranger led the police to believe that he was not a novice and had been in custody before.

he was not be an additional control before.

At the police station the prisoner gave his name as Henry Hill, and he was charged with being a suspicious character. It appears that one of the passengers in the Pulman car complained to the porter that his pockets had been gone through by some one abd a valuable pocket-piece stolen. The porter also stated that he had seen Hill with the passenger's trousers in his hands.

Hill with the passenger's trousers in his hands.

Detectives Carter and Gallaher were sent for and questioned the prisoner, but he steadfastly refused to answer any questions relating to his previous whereabouts or who he was. He would only state that he was a locomotive fireman, but had been out of vock for some time past.

After saying this the prisoner became clambike and refused to talk to anyone but his lawyer. Mr. Carrington, who soon arrived at the station. Finding they could not "swent" the man, Detective Carter said to him:

"I believe you are a professional Pullman car thief."

To this direct thrust no direct reply was made.

The prisoner was searched, but nothing of an incriminating character was found on him. He will be photographed and his measurements taken by the Bertillion system. Inspector Hollinberger will then try to find out something about him. He isheld at No. 8.

Citizens of Gaithersburg Regain- You'll ing Their Normal Condition.

STILL WORKING IN THE DARK

No New Clews Regarding the Buxton Mystery Have Been Discovered. Later Developments Make It Certain That the Man Who Entered the English House Was Familiar With It.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)
Gaithersburg, Md., May 28.—The situation today in Gaithersburg is unchanged.
Sheriff Collier visited the town, and after securing Mr. R. L. Buxton's revolver drove over to Hunting Hill to compare it with those belonging to Messrs. Ward and Garrett, the men who shot at Randoiph.

The citizens are as strong today as in the beginning in the belief that the crime was not committed by any resident or Gaithersburg. Their theories are still at variance with those of the Wushington detectives, and unless they really have undentable proof of the guilt of Randolph, the murderous assault bids fair to go on record as an inexplicable mystery.

It was asserted last night that when the preliminary hearing of Randolph took place sameient evidence would be tound to hold him. Those who have been foremost in the investigation do not now confirm that belief. They say they will investigate every clew, and have not yet settled upon any one as the guilty party.

It is a fact, though, that no efforts to rasten the crime upon any one except Randolph have yet been made. That no evidence has been secured against any one else is because of a lack of concentrated effort in that direction.

The theory of the Washington detectives recause of a lack of concentrated effort that direction. The theory of the Washington detectives oplicating Mr. Easton is wrong beyond by doubt, and other citizens who have en under the ban of suspicion were tony able to establish alibis. TOLD BY GEORGE ENGLISH.

TOLD BY GEORGE ENGLISH.

The Times correspondent visited the English home today and thoroughly examined the premises and interviewed Mrs. English, a widow, and George English, her eighteen-year-old son.

The story of George was that he was awakened by hearing a stick falling from the top of the window in the room below. The stairway is of the boxed-up kind, with a door which, when closed, shuts up the steps. The door opens backward to a window, which it shuts off when fully open.

On Sunday night a chair was placed on Sunday night a der this window, the back toward the door, which swung back against the chair, in that way being a jar. A stick stood on the upper part of the lower such, extending upward to prevent the ruising of the lower ash. There is little doubt that the man who broke the corner off the pane and pushed the attention with the English premises. George English heard no noise between the dropping of the stick to the floor and the creaking of the stairs when he was ascending them.

ing of the stars when he was ascending them.

Ite jumped out of bed and saw a form stoop and retreat down the stairs. He stated today that he did not hear him going down and heard no noise. Thereafter the man did not go out the door, because that was found locked. The window was up where he had entered, and propped up by a small hickory stick, evidently the property of the marander.

EXCITEMENT DYING OUT.

There are stains on this stick, which is about two feet long, and the stain looks like blood. The house stick was on the table. The strange stick had been cut some time, and was no thicker around than a man's thumb.

The fact that a man got into the house and up the stairs and removed a chair from the room and put it on the outside, without making any other noise than that caused by the falling stick, is regarded as evidence that the intruder was familiar with the premises. A stranger would not have known the position of the stairway, would have stumbled against something which would have made a noise.

The people are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Randolph and Neale, but are of the impression that the men will not be brought to Gathersburg. Excitementseems to be dying out.

"In the telegram sent to The Times yesterday we did not wish to be understood as expressing the opinion as to the innocence or guilt of any person or persons, nor did we wish to discourage thereby any further investigation in the Buxton case."

The Garfield Hospital physicians stated late this afterneon that Mr. and Mrs. Buxton and Miss Mand will recover; also that the prospects for little Sadie's recovery are good.

Stop Right Now-Don't Light Another. You're Burning Your Brains. WRECKS ALONG THE STREET SIDE

Ofttimes tobacco's victims took at the dying spark in the cigar situin, or at the big masticated "chaw" or tobacco just expectorated, and with nerves meotinized with tobacco, mentally resolve, "Now, that is my last; I will never use it again; it is injuring me physically and mancially, and my nerves are so irritated that I can't stand the least aunoyance." What is the result? These good resolutions are made while the effect of tobacco paralyzes the cravings of millions of irritated nerve centers, and when the effects pass away the good resolutions weaken, showing that the use of tobacco is not a habit, but a disease of the nervous system caused by the education of the nerves to crave for the nicotine poisoning. As an instance, here is the case of a North Carolina clergyman, who writes:

Gentlemen: Two weeks ago I began to use No-To-Bac, and I am now prepared to give it my unqualified indorsement as accomplishing precisely what is claimed for it. I have been an inveterate chewer of the weed for years and had made some half dozen or more efforts to overcome the habit without success. On the 19th day of January I began to use No-To-Bac, and by the time I had used three boxes my desire for tobacco was gone, and I feel like a new man. Your remedy is indeed wonderful, and it will enable any man to get rid of the tobacco habit, no matter what hold it may have taken of him, if he desires to give it up and will carry out your directions.

Allow me to thank you most heartily today, and it gives me great pleasure to give this testimonial. Very truly yours.
